

VS. - OCTOBER 2009

Wouldn't make us combat even more. It absolutely drew the expectations through the ceiling.

Juliette: I was so knocked out when I first met Drew 'cause she knew her shit. She was more prepared than a lot of first time directors I've worked with. She really, really impressed me.

Zoe: I'm still new at this and learning. You would have never thought this was her first time directing. She was so professional and had it together. There wasn't anything she couldn't help you with or you couldn't talk to her about it. She was good about making everyone on set feel part of this big production.

Drew: You can't ever believe you are the only pioneer in your field. If you kid yourself and think there's not a fucking army behind you making it happen then you've lost all perspective. It really does take a village. For people to have any faith in you, you can't be indecisive or unprepared because then you're totally screwed. I never would be that person for the people who were amazing enough to come on board and rock the show.

PHOTO
GALLERY
MORE PHOTOS

© 2010 DrewBarrymore.com. All non-exclusive content used with permission.
No portion of this website may be copied or used without permission.
Web design by Crystalline Web Solutions

